

Red Light Cameras

TallahasseeVoices is a pro bono internet survey panel sponsored by Kerr & Downs Research, which is solely responsible for information contained within TallahasseeVoices' reports.

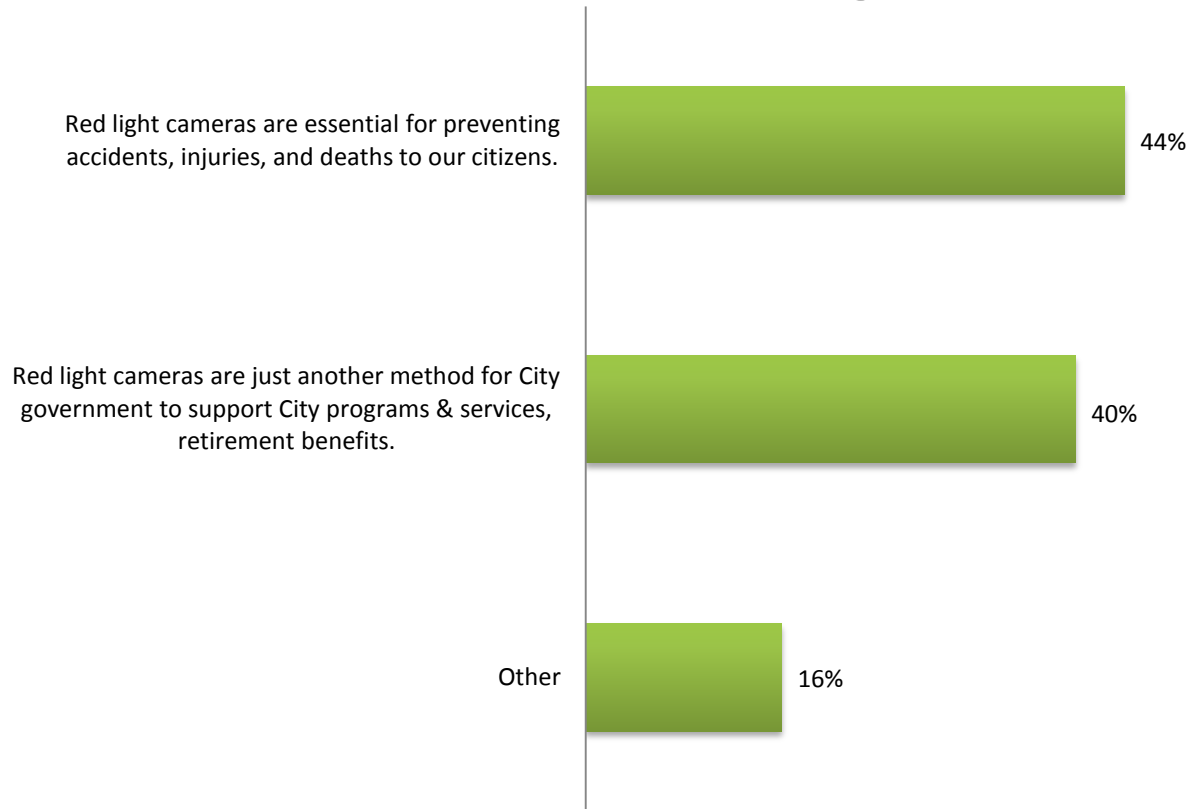

Survey was conducted in summer 2011 with 523 panel members responding.

Contact: Phillip Downs, Ph.D., Founder, TallahasseeVoices
Professor of Marketing, Florida State University
Senior Partner, Kerr & Downs Research
pd@kerr-downs.com

Citizens' Views on Red Light Cameras

- Citizens have mixed views on red light cameras. Slightly more citizens favor them and believe they serve a socially responsible function than believe they serve only a revenue generating function.

Citizens' Views on Red Light Cameras

Some people say the red light cameras installed by the City of Tallahassee are essential for preventing accidents, injuries, and deaths to our citizens. Some people say the red light cameras are just another method for City government to make money to support City programs & services, pay retirement benefits for City employees, pay for increases in the City budget that outstrip population growth, pay building costs and maintenance, vehicle purchases and maintenance, etc. With which group do you agree?